

The Broker Partnership Guide

Conveyancing revenue across your whole operation

For mortgage brokers and networks, conveyancing is a natural, recurring revenue line that sits alongside every purchase and remortgage. This guide covers how a ConveyQuote partnership works, the commercial terms, and how to get your team started.

Partnership overview

A single adviser referring conveyancing earns a useful side income. A brokerage or network doing it consistently — across every adviser and every client — builds a genuine, recurring revenue line.

Mortgage brokers are uniquely well placed for this. Purchases generate conveyancing at the front, and every fixed-rate that ends seeds a remortgage referral down the line. The same two-minute referral applies; the difference is coordination and commercial terms that reflect your volume.

Why brokers fit so well

Your client books are recurring by nature. Each purchase client becomes a remortgage client every few years, and a remortgage needs conveyancing too. A partnership turns that natural cycle into a dependable income stream — without changing how your advisers work.

How integration works

Referrals are portal-based and fast: around two minutes per referral, with an instant itemised quote preview before anything is sent. We'll be straight with you — there is no public API today. What a volume partnership gives you from day one is:

- Portal access for every adviser, with the same two-minute referral flow
- Consolidated visibility of referrals, conversion, case progress and fees earned across your team
- A single commercial relationship and a named contact who knows your account
- Onboarding and plain-English guidance so every adviser introduces the service consistently

Scoped honestly

If you run meaningful volume or a multi-branch operation, deeper integration and custom reporting are exactly what we scope together as part of the partnership — with real timelines, not vague promises.

Commission tiers

Commission is typically £100–£300 per completed transaction, agreed up front and fixed per case type. For partnerships, terms can reflect sustained volume. The tiers below are indicative — your exact arrangement is agreed in writing.

Monthly completions	Tier	What it includes
1–5	Standard	Agreed per-case rates, portal access, email support
6–15	Enhanced	Improved rates, consolidated reporting, named contact
16+	Bespoke	Custom commercial terms, account management, onboarding support

Run your own numbers

A 20-adviser operation referring 25 completed transactions a month at an average £150 is roughly £3,750 a month — about £45,000 a year — from work the team was already handling. Scale the rate and volume to your own book to see the opportunity.

Client education

Your advisers' credibility rests on every recommendation they make. A transparent conveyancing referral protects it, and we give your team the language to make the introduction cleanly.

- The legal work sits with SRA-regulated firms — protected, insured, ombudsman-backed
- The referral fee is disclosed to the client, as the rules require, and never inflates their quote
- Clients see their options and choose for themselves, which sits comfortably with FCA obligations
- Clients are never marketed to or cross-sold — the relationship stays with your adviser

✓ Support

You get direct access to the team who actually run the platform — by email and phone, Monday to Friday — not a call centre or a ticket queue. New partners get a portal walkthrough for their advisers and guidance they can use with clients from day one.

What partners tell us

Natalie B., Senior Mortgage Broker — West Yorkshire

"My clients are often first-time buyers who are already overwhelmed juggling a mortgage application and a property purchase simultaneously. Pointing them to ConveyQuote takes one major stress off the table. They get a clear, comparable quote within minutes and can instruct immediately. I've had zero complaints from clients I've referred — if anything they come back thanking me for flagging it."

Rachel S., Independent Mortgage Adviser — East Midlands

"As a whole-of-market broker I live or die on the quality of every recommendation I make. ConveyQuote gives me confidence because I'm not directing clients to one firm blindly — they're seeing their options, choosing themselves, and instructing a solicitor who's been properly vetted. That matters to me professionally and it matters for my PI position."
